

The Orthodox Christian Fellowship of Carnegie Mellon University & the University of Pittsburgh, in conjunction with FOCUS Pittsburgh, present:

MYSTERIES OF THE JESUS PRAYER

Sunday, November 20th, 2011
at 2:15pm
at the McConomy Auditorium
in the University Center on The Carnegie Mellon University campus

Free parking at the nearby East Campus Parking Garage!

Follow the movie's guides as they travel to some of the Orthodox Church's holiest historical sites seeking knowledge of the Jesus Prayer. Their journey carries them from the Sinai Desert to Mt. Athos, to monasteries and convents in Romania and Ukraine, and, finally, the magnificent cathedrals of Russia. The counsel they receive along the way is strikingly clear and abundantly wise; many of the locations fill one with a sense of awe.

- + A panel discussion and Q&A with area Orthodox clergy follows the film
- + A social hour with light refreshments will then be held in the concourse

For advanced ticket purchase details, see the Order Form. You may also order a discounted copy of the "Mysteries of the Jesus Prayer" movie, to be available for pickup at the showing on the 20th. Directions to Carnegie Mellon University McConomy Auditorium is available here.

Admission is $10.00 per person.
All profits are to benefit the ministries of FOCUS Pittsburgh
